

Choose Columbia
Columbia Economic Development Corporation

Christine Hinz

Columbia Economic Development Corporation Board of Directors

Christine Hinz works as a Real Estate Salesperson at Coldwell Banker Village Green Realty. She is a strategic, results-oriented public relations professional with extensive experience serving clients across government, public-private partnerships, non-profits, and the corporate sector—particularly in tourism, economic development, and membership organizations. Hinz is recognized for her exceptional business writing skills, expertise in strategic planning, and success in implementing integrated marketing programs. She collaborates with clients on initiatives aimed at educating target audiences and elevating client profiles among local, international, and multinational stakeholders.